Promoting Higher Education to New Mexico’s High School Students

Studies show that the most important factors in determining if a high school student will pursue a post-secondary academic degree or technical certification are completion of the FAFSA and submission of a college application.

We partner with educational institutions and non-profit organizations across New Mexico in the FAFSA & College Application Completion Process. This collaborative assists high school counselors across New Mexico and particularly focuses on higher education access and funding for first-generation and low-income students and their families.

We organize, facilitate and host FAFSA trainings, workshops and events, and provide educational assistance and materials. NMEAF also serves on the National College Access Network (NCAN) Policy and Regulatory Committee providing feedback to US Department of Education officials on financial aid issues.

Our NMSL program administers student loans, provides low-cost fixed-rate private education loans to undergraduate and graduate students attending school in New Mexico and residents of our state attending school outside NM. We also provide several programs where students save money when they repay their loans and incentivize needed professionals to stay and work in NM.

Our experienced communications center team helps hundreds of thousands of New Mexicans find the best solutions to repay their student loans. Our team counsel’s students on the best federal repayment programs for their individual situation and helps students avoid delinquency and default.

Borrower Benefits Programs
NMSL sponsors Borrower Benefit programs lowering interest rates and reducing the cost of repaying student loans.
